

For Graduate School College Preparatory Course

You can learn not only the Japanese ability needed for admission to graduate school but also the skills necessary for research by reading technical books, research plans, and oral presentation and discussion.

Example of Yearly Schedule

	First year												Second year
Month	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3
Japanese Level	High Beginner (N4-N3)				Intermediate1 (N3)				Intermediate2 (N2)				Advanced (N2-N1)				High Advanced (N1)
	High Beginner (N3)			Intermediate1 (N3)			Intermediate2 (N2)			Advanced (N2-N1)			High Advanced (N1)
	Intermediate1 (N3)				Intermediate2 (N2)				Advanced (N2-N1)				High Advanced (N1)
Japanese	Basic Intensive Training								Strengthening ability/Reading and writing of logical								Oral presentation practice / Reading comprehension of specialized books
Preparation for Graduate School Admissions Exams									Clarification of Research Purpose & Significance /Making of Research Plan etc.								Essay / Interview practice
English	Optional lessons for charge				English (TOEFL)
Individualized Instructions	Carrier design/Search laboratory /Determine research theme, etc.								Briefing participation/ Preparation for application / Preparation for oral examinations, etc.
Period	April to December												January to September												October to March
Class Period		Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri		Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri		Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri
1	Japanese (Basic Intensive Training)										Japanese (Strengthening ability/ Reading and writing of logical.etc)					Japanese (Oral presentation practice /Reading comprehension of specialized books/ Study skill after entering school)
2
3
4
5	Japanese ^{PLUS}										Preparation for Graduate School Admissions Exams					Preparation for Graduate School Admissions Exams
6
7
8
	English Oct~																								English ~Sep.
	Optional lessons for charge ※ Regarding English, for students with TOEFL iBT 35-40 (TOEIC 550-600, IELTS 5) or above, TOEFL measures will be taken. (from October to September of the following year)																												